Reasons for Allowance

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the instant claims have been found allowable over the closest prior art, Grimm 6,387,447 and Sano (JP 59-197466), for the following reasons.
2. Grimm teaches a coated pipe for use in undersea applications which comprises a polyurethane formed from an isocyanate compound and hollow microbeads and a castor oil component however Grimm only teaches the castor oil component (the fatty acid oil) as a carrier for zeolite, and even then in percentages much lower than the instantly claimed range and gives no motivation or reason as to why one of ordinary skill in the art would adjust the concentration of said oil and as such fails to teach the fatty acid component of the instant invention. Grimm also fails to teach that the fatty acid oil offers improved hydrolytic stability to the coated pipe. Further Grimm fails to teach any reason or motivation as to why one of ordinary skill in the art would add the microbeads to other polyurethanes. It is further noted that the declaration submitted on 11/06/08 shows the importance and the unexpected results of the fatty acid oil added to the polyurethane.
3. Sano teaches a pipe that is coated with a syntactic polyurethane component that can have up to 90% of castor oil and the required polyetherpolyol but fails to teach the presence of microbeads or microspheres. Further Sano et al. teaches that the coating of their instant invention is more readily hydrolyzed due to the presence of the castor oil which teaches away from the enhanced hydrolytic stability of the instant invention.

4. Thus it is clear that Grimm or Sano alone or in combination do not disclose the present invention.

In light of the above the present claims are passed to issue.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
